SOME very handsome entertaining has engaged the attention of fashionable society in Richmond for the past week. The debutante of the season and last have been very much in evidence, and most of the smart functions were given in their honor. Two big dances of decided interest were given. Miss Lullie Greenhow Johnston was guest of honor at a big dance given at the Country Club of Virginia on Thursday night by her cousin, Miss Martha Robinson. It was a very brilliant affair, and Miss Johnston's formal introduction into society later in the winter will also be a very handsome function. Miss Helen Henrietta Haskins, who was presented to Richmond society on Friday night at a great big ball given in the Masonic Temple by her father, Robert Haskins, is another much feted debutante of the winter. Miss Haskins is a niece of Captain and Mrs. John A. Cole, and her debut dance Friday was a very notable affair, several hundred guests being included in the invitations.

Several big weddings are chronicled for this week, and some very important debutante affairs will also take place. Mrs. Henry Harrison Taylor, Jr., will introduce her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Taylor, at a big afternoon reception on Tuesday afternoon, and the same evening Miss Frances Bemis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bemis, will make her debut to society at a house dance to be given at the home of Miss East Grace Street. Miss Mark Skelton Gibbs, a cousin of Miss Bemis, is also making her debut at the dance given Tuesday night by Mr. and Mrs. Bemis.

Another handsome function for the week will be a cotillion given by Captain William E. Johnson in the ballroom of the Jefferson Hotel, at which function his daughter, Miss Mary Johnson, will make her initial appearance as a debutante.

All sorts of smaller affairs will be given for guests in private houses, and the festivities of Thanksgiving will center around the football game here on that day, to be preceded by set luncheons and followed by the theatre and a German in the Jefferson Hotel.

The gaiety of the week will be concluded with the big society production of "Alice in Wonderland," to be given on Friday and Saturday evenings in the theatre. It will be one of the most brilliant amateur affairs given in Richmond in many years, and the casts includes the most important girls and men in town who have anything like a voice or can dance a step or two.

Miss Dunnington's Wedding. Richmond society, and indeed, society all over Virginia, is deeply interested in the approaching wedding of Miss Lucie Knight Dunnington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grey Dunnington, and Edward Southard Shields, which takes place at noon at "Poplar Hill," the handsome estate of the bride's father, on Wednesday of this week. Miss Dunnington is a very beautiful girl, and a number of Richmond people will go to Farmville to attend the wedding Wednesday. Her family, as well as that of Mr. Shields, is one of the most prominent in the State, and quite a distinguished gathering will be present for the ceremony.

Mrs. Ashton G. Chapman, of Washington, sister of the bride, will be dam of honor, and Miss Louise Donnan Shields, sister of the groom, will be maid of honor. James Randolph Casstide, of Lynchburg, will be best man, the groom's best man, and William Hodges Mann, Jr., J. W. Dunnington, W. G. Dunnington and J. H. Dunnington, brothers of the bride, will be ushers. Miss Jamie Quinn and Miss Jeanne Dunnington will be bridesmaids. Mr. Dunnington will give his daughter in marriage, and a distinguished gathering will be present for the ceremony.

The Alumni Association of the University of Virginia has secured for the night of Thanksgiving all the seats of the orchestra and boxes and the seats of the balcony of the Theatre. The teams will be present in the balcony, and the tickets to the first balcony have been distributed among the students of the two universities. The occasion bids fair to be the usual gala after-gala event of the holiday season. Gay parties of the younger society will occupy the orchestra seats, and a number of big parties have been arranged in honor of the out-of-town girls spending Thanksgiving in Richmond. The theatre will be appropriately decorated in the colors of the two universities present, and souvenir programs will be distributed. During the intermission the wait will be relieved by college songs and yells, and stereoscopic pictures will be flashed on the screen. The musical comedy to be played is "The Real Girl." It will be a very fashionable event, and most of the audience present will go to the Jefferson Hotel for the big dance following the theatre.

Of Interest in Virginia. The wedding of Miss Isabella Wright Clarke and James Burwell Harrison, of Centerville, Va., was celebrated at St. John's Episcopal Church in Kingston, N. Y., at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 18. Miss Clarke is the only daughter of Frederick J. B. Clarke, president of the United States National Bank, and granddaughter of William B. Wright, chief judge of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York. Pink roses and smilax adorned the altar and in the chancel were pink chrysanthemums. Other decorations consisted of palms and ferns. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Messier, rector of St. John's Church. Only relatives and immediate friends were present. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gown in white chiffon over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and maidenhair ferns. Mrs. Frederick E. W. The ushers were Charles A. Warren, of Hurley; T. S. Winston, R. McCurdy and Henry Wilson, of Brown's Station.
